

HGKX

In 2020, we held a CoCreate week under the theme of "Inclusion". 21 students worked together under the title "You are the network!" to find out how the HGKx can be organised inclusively and managed in the form of an equal network characterised by flat hierarchies, self-organisation and personal responsibility of the members. We organised ourselves and used the combined innovative and creative power to get to know and understand the needs of the students for their alumni organisation better. We developed ideas and proposals for a potential transformation of the HGKx.

The findings from the „You are the network!“ course now serve as the basis for further transformation towards a vibrant, mutually supportive and self-sustaining creative network.

The potential of interdisciplinary, self-directed processes combined with a shared vision became tangible this week.

We want to maintain this direction.

The organisation should change together with and through all those involved and thus change organically.

We can be destructors and producers in a living network with a permeable membrane that connects and divides, shrinks and grows, that we nurture together and whose fruits we harvest together. The apple has already been shot for the transformation process of the HGKx into an organisation à la Holacracy and we look forward to interested and inspired participation.

Do you want to build a platform plus marketplace? Are you simply curious or do you have ideas and suggestions?

We cordially invite you to become part of this process and welcome you as an equal.
